

How is the final price of the trip determined?

The basic price quoted in our travel offers applies to you if you do not require any special support or assistance and you can move independently and organise your trip on your own responsibility. Your assistants will be at your side from the beginning and will take care of all daily travel tasks: Organisation and course of the trip, orientation in the hotel, support during meals, joint excursions, etc. They are available as contact persons during

Do you need additional assistance?

Depending on the kind of support you need, we will organise additional care and nursing staff. The resulting costs are based on the actual level of care and are covered by the following care and nursing tariffs.
